

Dear Caroline Businesses,

This is the latest from REDCO regarding the banks you can secure a PPP loan.

“I’ve started to put together a list of known PPP lenders who have an online presence and application process. This isn’t all encompassing, as some banks may not put information up on their websites, or haven’t yet; but, it’s a start. As you’ll see, because of the expected volume some banks are only processing these loans for existing business customers. This list will grow as more banks ramp up their infrastructure for the program, but I think it’s important to encourage businesses to contact the bank they do business with first.”

These links go to each bank’s PPP info and application. Feel free to share:
